

THE CHINESE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG
Department of Information Engineering
Seminar

Overview of Telecommunications Market in Hong Kong and Career Opportunities at OFCA

By

Mr. Kingsley YEUNG

Assistant Director (Support), the Office of the Communications Authority (OFCA)

Date : 25 November 2022 (Friday)

Time : 10:25am to 11:15am

Venue : Rm801, Ho Sin Hang Engineering Building, CUHK

Abstract

Interested in the telecommunications sector? It is an essential element in modern society, characterised with fast development and ample opportunities for the young generation. The senior executive of OFCA will share with you an overview of this dynamic market together with the works and career prospect at the industry regulator, which may foster your interest in pursuing a career in telecommunications after graduation.

Biography

Kingsley is currently Assistant Director (Support) of The Office of the Communications Authority. OFCA is the executive arm of the Communications Authority established in April 2012 as the unified regulator for the telecommunications and broadcasting sectors in Hong Kong.

Kingsley has over 20 years of experience in the telecommunications sector. As Assistant Director (Support), he currently oversees matters relating to enforcement of the Unsolicited Electronic Messages Ordinance (Cap.593), provision of technical support for the regulation of broadcasting services, liaison with the Mainland/overseas regulators and international organisations, management of media relation and publicity campaigns, as well as handling of general complaints and administrative matters including accounting, human resources and information technology.

* ALL ARE WELCOME ****